BIMQP — Jaipur, Rajasthan
Software Developer — December 2024 – March 2026

At BIMQP, I develop internal tools and client-facing web applications using Next.js, Flutter, and SQL. My role includes refactoring legacy codebases, building new features from the ground up, and maintaining scalable, high-performance systems. I work closely with designers and project leads to ensure clean UI, efficient backend logic, and alignment with business objectives. From fixing critical bugs in production to optimizing load times and deployment workflows, I contribute across the full development cycle to ship reliable, modern software.
